THE MYSTERIOUS LOSS OF THE ‘GAUL’

The factory fishing boat ‘Gaul’ sank with all hands in mysterious circumstances on 9th February 1974 in the Barents Sea. How and why did she sink? Had she been spying?

A fascinating insight into deep sea forensic investigation during the Cold War and how the real reason for her loss was eventually found.

BY ANDY KIRBY (EX UK POLICE INSPECTOR - FORENSICS)

All Nautical Institute members and Friends of the Branch are invited to hear Andy’s explanation.

Please pass the information to your colleagues and circulate within your offices.

‘After event’ drinks and networking in the walled garden of CYMEPA House.
